

The Gospel Changes Relationships, Part 1

Romans 12:9-16

Romans 12 teaches us how people can be rightly related to each other. In a general sense, Christians should love people with a godly love. Jesus taught us that a summation of the law is to love God and love people, Mt 22:37-40. Romans 12 tells us what it looks like on an average day to love people.

Romans 12:9-16 How believers can and should treat _____.

Romans 12:17-21 How believers can and should treat _____.

You have the potential of seeing God's grace and mercy and power show up in your relationships because of who you are and how God has formed you. How you treat people is one way that you can demonstrate the gospel's influence in your life.

A sample of the commands in Romans 12:9-16.

1) Love must be sincere.

The word for sincere is literally unhypocritical.

In the Ancient World, a _____ was an actor and wore a mask. A hypocrite pretended to be someone he or she was not.

2) Hate what is evil and cling to what is good.

Not only can you _____ good and evil...you can _____ evil and _____ the good.

As we move from postmodern to post-truth, this is going to be a point of contention with the culture.

Woe to those who call evil good and good evil (Isaiah 5:20)
